INTEGRATING COMMUNITY AND THE HEALTH CARE SYSTEM FOR BETTER HEALTH OUTCOMES

People live their healthiest lives when they have access to nutritious food, affordable housing, health care, quality education, clean air, and safe communities. However, efforts to improve health have historically only focused on the traditional health care system rather than how community-level factors could help prevent illness and promote well-being. Building bridges between clinical and community approaches to care could lead to better health outcomes for all.

Community Integrated Health aims to strengthen the relationships between traditional health care systems and community-based organizations in order to help all community members live their healthiest lives.

The Community Integrated Health Conference, hosted by the YMCA of the USA, is a special opportunity for our partners in health and well-being to discuss how we can collectively define and advance the field of community integrated health to support a national Culture of Health.

2018 Community Integrated Health Conference,
December 10-12, 2018 - Washington Hilton Hotel

Conference Theme: Creating a Culture of Health by Integrating Community and Health Care

How the conference will help us work better together?

- ✓ Discuss how we can highlight the value of community-based organizations to various health care and community stakeholders
- ✓ Identify collaboration opportunities to scale or sustain successful community integrated health initiatives
- ✓ Learn from innovators in the field that are already leading this work

Areas of Focus for the Conference Include:

Capacity Building – Helping organizations develop and strengthen their infrastructure to effectively deliver, measure, grow, and sustain activities to advance community integrated health.

Health Equity – Advancing conditions in which everyone has the opportunity to attain their full health potential and no one is disadvantaged from achieving this potential because of their social position or other socially determined circumstance.

Collaboration - Utilizing the collective impact model or a similar model to implement policy, system, and environmental changes to achieve community integrated health. The primary focus is on sharing resources, risks, responsibilities, and rewards.

Clinic-Community Integration – Improving and sustaining health by conducting home visits, creating shared spaces for community programs with health practices, and helping connect people to health care exchanges and marketplaces.

Privacy Laws and Health Care Regulations - Ensuring community-based organizations comply with privacy laws and health care regulations.

Evidence-Based Health and Social Service Interventions - Discovering, developing, and disseminating research-tested, high-fidelity community integrated health interventions to improve health.

Target Audience: Individuals and Organizations Interested in Transforming Health from Community-Based Organizations, Payors, Health Care Systems, Community Networks, and State and Federal Government.
